

Kyriacos Kokkinos

Kyriacos Kokkinos is an IBM Executive Director & Partner, IBM Europe, with 27 years of experience in the Information Technology Sector. In his most recent role, he leads European Consulting practice in Cognitive Computing. Throughout his career he served in a number of managerial and executive positions across different European geographies. He is distinguished for his strong understanding of IT in Telecommunications, Energy and Utilities Sectors and has a solid understanding of Public Sector, Healthcare and Banking industries.

Key Strengths:

- Strategic Thought Leadership, strong business acumen, innovation and knowledge creation consultant, trusted business advisor at board level.
- Member of IBM's Research Institute IBV (Institute for Business Value)

Directorship competencies: Serves in in the Board of Directors of a number of organizations, including Vice - Chairman of OEB, Board Member of CIPA Cyprus Investment Promotion Agency and Vice - Chairman of the Research Promotion Foundation RPF.

Education

- MBA in Strategic Management, Henley Management College, United Kingdom, 2001
- BScEE, MscEE in Computer Engineering, Electronics Engineering, New Jersey Institute of Technology, United States of America