

Afroditi Magou is an Environmental Scientist, graduated from the University of East Anglia in 2018. She holds a Master of Laws in Global Environment and Climate Change Law, by the University of Edinburgh, graduating in 2019.

Her career started in 2019, with her first work as a project consultant at Chrysalis Leap, focusing mainly on the decarbonization of the maritime sector. In September 2020, she got an internship as an Environmental Consultant at Schneider Electric Budapest and in October 2020, she was hired for a part-time job as a Research Associate at the Cyprus University of Technology. From September 2021 she has joined OEB as an Officer at the Department of Energy & Environment.