

Build Expo Greece 2025: The construction trade fair of Southeast Europe and East Mediterranean

Build Expo Greece, the largest and most specialised exhibition for the construction and building sector in Southeast Europe, will be held in Athens from 9 to 12 October 2025 at Metropolitan Expo in Athens, Greece, under the auspices of the Hellenic Ministry of Environment and Energy and the Hellenic Ministry of Infrastructure and Transport.

Responding to the great need of the construction industry and its market for international collaborations, and attesting to the business networking character of the exhibition, Build Expo Greece will host hundreds of prominent international buyers who will participate in a series of important B2B meetings with exhibitors. This extroversion positions the exhibition as a business opportunity generator, an exceptional tool for both exhibitors and buyers, increasing productivity, connecting regional and international markets, and boosting the development of the entire industry.

Build Expo Greece will span three halls at the Metropolitan Expo, showcasing all product categories of the sector, as well as new technologies and innovations. In parallel, on the same dates and venue, the Hellenic Aluminium exhibition will take place in its own dedicated hall, gathering leading companies from the Greek aluminium industry, known worldwide for its high-quality standards.

The event of the year for the construction sector is approaching. More than 300 exhibitors from 9 countries and thousands of trade visitors from over 40 countries will celebrate entrepreneurship and foster international collaboration.
